2012 writer's schedule

These dates are for articles and calendar items

For longer feature articles, I need know a week earlier what it is about, if photos and how many and I will let you know if I can use it at all and in what month. This will be early enough to make the following month if I want to use it and have room for it.

For race articles after the deadlines below, I need know by the deadline when it will be coming and how long it will be and if photos. If you have a race article the weekend after the deadline, then I must get it by the following Monday (add 7 days to the below dates), and I MUST know the length of the article within 100 words (give or take), if there is a photo, and I MUST get it by that Monday morning, as I will leave space for it. But it is imperative it is perfectly planned out and it comes in as planned, since we go to press the next day, Tuesday.

Contact me with questions about deadlines.
